✓ Measures of Inflation

Inflation refers to the rate at which the general level of prices for goods and services rises, reducing the purchasing power of money. It is measured using various economic indicators.

- ◆ Example: If inflation is 5%, an item that cost $100 last year would now cost $105.

🛒 The Consumer Price Index (CPI)

The CPI measures the average change in prices paid by consumers for a basket of goods and services over time. It is commonly used to assess the cost of living.

- ◆ Example: If the CPI increases from 200 to 210 in a year, it means consumer prices have risen by 5%.

🏭 The Producer Price Index (PPI)

The PPI measures the average change in selling prices received by domestic producers for their goods and services. It reflects inflation from the seller's perspective before reaching consumers.

- ◆ Example: If the PPI for steel rises by 10%, manufacturers who use steel may raise their product prices, leading to higher CPI in the future.

Why Traders Care	Consumer prices account for a majority of overall inflation. Inflation is important to currency valuation because rising prices lead the central bank to raise interest rates out of respect for their inflation containment mandate;
